

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Albany Community Invited to Native Planting Day at Demonstration Garden

Date: Sunday, August 18, 2024

Time: 12:30 PM - 3:00 PM

Location: 1500 Western Ave, Albany, NY

Wild Ones Capital Region NY Chapter invites the community to a hands-on native planting day at our upcoming Flora for Fauna Festival. Roll up your sleeves and help plant native species in our demonstration garden. Learn valuable gardening skills, take home native plants from our fundraiser, and contribute to local conservation efforts. This is a great way to meet a community of gardeners growing healthier landscapes. Supported in part by Unity Lutheran, Monarch Joint Venture, and U.S. Forest Service International Programs, this free, family-friendly event is perfect for all ages. Bring your gardening gloves and join us in making a difference!

Wild Ones is a national nonprofit with roots starting in WI back in the 1970s with chapters forming quickly in many states. The mission is to improve the environment through education, advocacy, and collaborative action by promoting native plants and natural landscaping. The WildOnes.org website contains an interactive map of where chapters are or are starting to form. Along with the award-winning The Journal, photo contest, Seeds for Education Grant, and a growing selection of free garden designs using the local flora!

Contact:

Kristi Shepler

Communications & Development

Wild Ones Capital Region NY

wildones.capitalregion@gmail.com

facebook.com/WOCapitalRegionNY

instagram.com/wildonescapitalregionny/

Attachment: PDF & PNG Event Flyer Graphic